Abstract. This study is concerned on some educational concepts, which are useful in selecting those tools and methods that are necessary for getting information about adolescents. Based on 315 teacher's self remembering, the study demonstrate that the adolescent's-teacher's and adolescent's-parent's conflicts are illusionary and the sources for that are in the indecisive and self blaming character of adolescent's. Recognizing the illusionary nature of teacher-adolescent conflict, the adults may accept more easily the adolescents. This acceptance can help the children to go more successful through the adolescent years. This paper offers ideas for "how the adolescents are thinking".

Keywords: teacher as adolescent, teacher as parent, teacher as adolescent's teacher, educational problems, educational methods and tools.
