

Sérült gyermek a családban

ORBÁN RÉKA

*Babeş-Bolyai Tudományegyetem, Kolozsvár
Pszichológia és Neveléstudományok Kar e-mail: orbanreka@pszichologia.ro*

Abstract. It is a very stressful event for the family when a handicapped child is born. I wrote about the role of the family in accepting a child with problems. The acceptance is a stadial process. The therapists can be efficient only if they know in witch stage is the parent. The attitude of extended family is also important. Their siblings also have special needs.

Keywords: family system, support, crises, denial, fury, guiltiness, acceptance, and sibling